

Media Contact:

David Huffman
Director of Operations
Phone: 508-365-7833

Email address: David.Huffman@nescso.org

NESCSO Announces the Selection of Seven Organizations to Provide the New England Health and Human Service Agencies Staff Training and Leadership Development Resources

Shrewsbury, MA – March 2, 2020 - Today, the New England States Consortium Systems Organization (NESCSO) announced the selection of seven organizations from whom the NESCSO Member States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut can access training and leadership development resources.

Representatives from each Member State selected these organizations based on the scope and depth of their knowledge of State needs. The organizations will be on a pre-qualified list for three years. During that time, NESCSO will fund and coordinate contracting efforts on behalf of the Member States.

The organizations selected are;

BerryDunn

Cadence with William James College

Center for Health Care Strategies with Ed O'Neil and Audacious Inquiry

Commonwealth Medicine

Deloitte

Michael Nardone

Mostly Medicaid

“We are very excited to be working with these diverse and excellent organizations. The responses we received reflect knowledge and expertise in a wide range of areas that complement the needs of our Member States,” said Elena Nicolella, NESCSO's Executive Director. She added, “We are grateful to the members of the State Advisory Committee for their time and effort in the review and selection of the organizations.”

About the New England States Consortium Systems Organization (NESCSO)

NESCSO is a private, non-profit organization governed by the New England State health and human service agencies and the University of Massachusetts Medical School. NESCSO's mission is to enhance and support the capacity of State Government to deliver services in a person-centered and cost-effective Health and Human Services system. To learn more, visit

<http://www.nescso.org/>